MEET THE PRESIDENT

Members of Conference Addressed by President Roosevelt.

SPEAKS FOR NO ONE BUT THE PUBLIC.

First Session Lasts But Fifteen Minutes When Adjournment Is Taken to Consider Matters at Issue.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The second step in the president's efforts to effect a settlement between the anthracite coal magnates and the miners has been taken. A few minutes after the hour fixed for the conference, every person who had been invited to participate with the exception of President Oliphant of the Delaware and Hudson, who sent a personal representative, David Wilcox, vice president and general counsel of the road, and President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania road, were present in the second story front room of the present executive mansion, where the president since his return from Indianapolis has transacted such necessary public business as could not be postponed. The president during the conference was seated in a large invalid chair, his left leg extended at full length, resting upon a cushion, the president greeted most cordially each of the guests, when they appeared and when all were assembled he stated to them in a brief preliminary way his object in calling them together. The president fully realizing the importance of the communication that he was to make, had prepared a carefully worded paper setting forth in detail his position on the pending controversy.

The President's Speech.

At the opening of the conference President Roosevelt said:

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that there are three parties affected by the situation in the anthracite trade—the operators, the miners and the general public. I speak for neither the operators, nor the miners, but for the general public. The questions at issue which led to the situation affect immediately the parties concerned—the operators and the miners; but the situation itself vitally affects the public. As long as there seemed to be a reasonable hope that these matters could be adjusted between the parties, it did not seem proper to me to intervene in any way. I disclaim any right or duty to intervene in this way upon legal grounds or any upon any official relation that I bear to the situation, but the urgency and the terrible nature of the catastrophe impending over a large portion of our people in the shape of a winter fuel famine impels me, after much anxious thought to believe that my duty requires me to use whatever influence I personally can to bring to an end a situation which has become literally intolerable. I wish to emphasize the character of the situation and to say that its gravity is such that I am constrained urgently to insist that each one of you realize the heavy burden of responsibility upon him. We are upon the threshold of winter with an already existing coal famine, the future terror of which we can hardly yet appreciate. The evil possibilities made so far-reaching, so appalling that it seems to me that you are not only justified in sinking, but required to sink for the time being any tenacity as to your respective claims in the matter at issue between you. In my judgment the situation imperatively requires that you meet upon the common plane of the necessities of the public. With all the earnestness there is in me I ask that there be an immediate resumption of operations in the coal mines in some such way as will, without a day's unnecessary delay meet the crying needs of the people. I do not invite a discussion of your respective claims and positions. I appeal to your patriotism, to the spirit that sinks personal considerations and makes individual sacrifices for the general good."

When the president concluded the reading of his statement, he said he did not expect that either party would be ready to submit propositions at this time, but he asked them to take into consideration what he had said and to return at 3 o'clock. He said he hoped that some proposition might be presented at that time which would furnish the basis of an adjustment.

Root Optimistic.

Secretary Root had nearly an hour's private conference with the president. The secretary was in an optimistic mood when he left the White House. He said he could not communicate anything further than what had been given to the press, but he did not hesitate to express his individual opinion to the effect that the prospects were bright for some satisfactory outcome of the negotiations instituted. He thought that the strong point of the situation was that for first time the conflicting elements had been brought fairly face to face—in the bull ring as he expressed it—and they were now in a position where it was incumbent upon them to do something. In other words, the ice had been broken as between the parties and he was hopeful that when they came together again, the way would be paved for some sort of a compromise.

Mr. Mitchell and his party break-fasted and immediately afterward, Mr. Mitchell was joined by President Gompers of the Federation of Labor. They left the hotel together and Mr. Mitchell was not seen again until he made his appearance at the White House conference. Mr. Mitchell declined to discuss the situation from any point of view in advance of the meeting, merely saying that under the circumstances he could not be expected to talk. The other members of the Mitchell party were President Nichols, of District Miners' Union No. 1; President Thomas Duffy, of District Union No. 7, and President J. Fahey, of District Union No. 9. They were in cheerful moods and all contended that the miners were prepared to hold out indefinitely if their demands were not granted, the demands still being as originally outlined by the Shamokin convention.

When the conference of the coal strike situation had been in progress but 15 minutes, the railroad representatives left the conference room and were closeted in a room on the lower floor of the White House. The general supposition was that they either had received a proposition and had retired to consider it or had retired to prepare one of their own.

Soon after retiring to their room the railroad representatives left the White House. They refused to say anything except that they were coming back again for a further conference. President Baer was asked by a number of newspaper men where he could be seen and he responded: "Gentlemen, we are trying to get just where we can confer and where you cannot see us."

President Mitchell and his party left the White House shortly after the railway presidents.

The representatives of the railroads were driven from the White House to their special train in which they remained at the Baltimore and Ohio station until it was time to leave for the second conference. Each had prepared a report which he presented to the president when the conference reassembled.

MORE STRIKERS OUT.

Sixteen Hundred Southern Miners Suspend Work at Officers' Call.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 3.—President Edward Flynn, of the United Mine Workers of America, district of Alabama, has stated that he had issued orders for all the miners of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway company at the Blue Creek and Blockton mines to suspend work on Monday next. About 1,600 men will be involved, which added to those already out in the Pratt mines division, will make the total number of strikers over 4,000. The strike grows out of the refusal of the company to withhold assessments made by the miners' union for the anthracite strikers from the wages of those miners who object to paying it. President Flynn says all miners who refuse to pay the assessment will be expelled. Officials of the miners' union are now making a canvass among the miners of the Sloss-Sheffield company.

Revolt in Macedonia

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—The insurrectionary movement in Macedonia does not appear to have spread to any serious extent, although it is feared in some quarters that the Turkish measures for its suppression may exasperate the villagers and cause neutrals to join the revolutionists. The Macedonian committee's efforts to support the plans of its president, General Tzontcheff for a general revolt are handicapped by the hostility of the adherents of Sarroff, the former president, who refuse all assistance to the new leader. According to news from Bulgarian sources upwards of 500 Bulgarians were recently imprisoned in the Monastir districts. Numerous arrests of Albanians were made at Constantinople as a precaution, during the visit of Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia.

Norwalk, O., Oct. 3.—A car running from Cleveland to Norwalk on the Lake Shore Shore Electric railroad, was run into by a freight train on the Nickle Plate railroad at Berlin Heights and badly damaged. Conductor Hefler and three passengers were injured. A number of freight cars were wrecked and the small depot building of the Nickle Plate was knocked over.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE

National Association Meets and Selects Officers.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE CONVENTION.

Honorable John L. Bates Is Nominated For Governor—Platform Endorses Roosevelt and Asks Reciprocity for Cuba.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—The Republican league has closed its session in this city. The last session was called to order by President Hamilton and received the reports of committees. The committee on resolutions had its report drafted, but secured a delay in its presentation. It was then resolved to proceed with the election of officers. J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, had no opposition for the nomination for president. He was placed in nomination by Karl Kuehne of Iowa. He was elected by acclamation.

The League platform as produced by the resolutions committee was then presented to the delegates, who adopted it without discussion. The platform follows:

"The National Republican League, in its thirteen convention assembled, congratulates the party of Abraham Lincoln and our American citizenship of all parties, upon the prosperity that was restored to the whole people under the wise and patriotic policies that signified the administration of William McKinley in war and in peace, and that have been continued with energy and fearlessness by the soldier statesman, Theodore Roosevelt. We give unqualified commendation to his administration. We believe in his honesty of purpose, admire him for his courage, and love him for his unwavering Republicanism. The convention records its tribute of grief over the tragic death of the beloved American, William McKinley, and mourn him as the tireless champion of American prosperity and the dauntless defender of national honor.

The platform declares for the admission to the Union of the territories of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona, and the extension of a territorial form of government to Indian Territory, and approves the action of the administration in redeeming every pledge growing out of the Spanish war.

It declares for protection to American labor, and condemns every combination of capital whose purpose is self-aggrandizement at the expense of the working man, the general public, the nation, or any state or local government, or to increase the cost of the necessities of life, or, in any way to assail the moral, physical or political welfare of the people."

It protests against child labor, and urges a speedy adjustment of the coal strike.

The meeting was concluded with an address by Senator Beveridge of Indiana.

Other officers were elected as follows: Secretary, E. J. Weeks, Iowa; treasurer, Sid H. Redding, Arkansas; vice president, J. J. Sheridan, Illinois. The only contests were over the offices of treasurer and vice president, Byron E. Sheffield of Kansas having been a candidate for the former, and L. W. Mott of New York for the latter. An executive committee to serve during the new administration was appointed.

Massachusetts Republicans.

Boston, Oct. 3.—With every plan matured for quickly and harmoniously completing their platform, the delegates to the Republican state convention assembled in the Boston theater and nominated a ticket to be voted for in November. Ex-Secretary of the Navy John D. Long was chosen as permanent chairman. In assuming the chairmanship he delivered a scholarly address upon the issues.

The platform adopted endorses President Roosevelt, demands reciprocity with Cuba; favors protection, says combinations of capital must not be prejudicial to country's best interests. The coal strike is deplored and a solution hoped for.

The following ticket was nominated by acclamation: Governor, John L. Bates, present Lieutenant governor; lieutenant governor, Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston; secretary of commonwealth, William M. Olin, Boston; treasurer receiver general, Edward S. Bradford, Springfield; auditor of accounts, Henry E. Turner, Malden; attorney general, Herbert Parker, Lancaster.

A $2,000,000 syndicate, known as the Ohio and Pennsylvania Traction company, will build an electric road from Cleveland to Sharon, Pa.

DEPOSITS FIVE MILLION.

St. Louis Secures Necessary Funds For the Exposition.

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—A banquet was tendered by the Business Men's league at the Mercantile club to the governor's and commissioners who attended the ceremonies of allotting sites for state buildings at the Louisiana purchase exposition. Mr. I. G. Baker of St. Louis has received a request from Governor Toole of Montana to accept the site allotted to that state. The site will probably be allotted in a few days, together with the sites for Utah, West Virginia and New Hampshire. A letter has been received from Governor Hunt of Puerto Rico, who is now in New York city, that he is unable to attend the allotment ceremonies this week and he asks that the site be reserved for that division.

The government's $5,000,000 will soon become available to the exposition company. The city of St. Louis has deposited all of its $5,000,000 and subscribers to the $5,000,000 exposition stock are paying their obligations so rapidly that all of the $15,000,000 will soon be in the treasury of the company.

House Adjourns.

Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—The code has now been read entirely through, section by section, in the house of representatives, with the exception of the repealing clauses and these have been referred to a special committee. The house has adjourned to Monday evening at which time the report of the committee on repeals will be heard. It is expected that the house will reach a vote on the bill by Tuesday morning. The conference committee will also be named at that time and the present plan is for the house to adjourn for the remainder of the week so that the conference committee can perform its labors without the disturbances which attended the meetings of the code committee. At the morning session, the civil service provisions were all approved with the exception of several details which met with no opposition. Representative York offered his bill in the shape of an amendment but Mr. Guerin raised the point of order that the matter contained in the bill had already been gone over and that the amendment could not therefore be received. The speaker sustained this point of order and the York bill was shelved.

Pioneer Westerner Dead.

Denver, Oct. 3.—General Bels M. Hughes, one of the most noted characters in the early history of the west, is dead at his home in this city of pneumonia, after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Hughes was president in the early sixties of the Overland Stage and express company, which operated between the Missouri river and the Pacific coast. He also was the first president of the Denver and Pacific railroad and was prominent in other railroad development. Mr. Hughes was born in Kentucky in 1816 and educated for the law. This pursuit he followed with success at periods during his life until 1893, when he retired. He began his legal career at St. Joseph, Mo., and served that state in the legislature. Mr. Hughes was distinguished as a soldier, having served through the Black Hawk war with honor.

Troops Protect Non-Unionists.

Mount Carmel, Pa., Oct. 3.—While the Fourth regiment soldiers' train on the Northern Central railroad was standing in the local yard, a crowd of unknown men threw missiles through numerous windows of the cars. No one was injured because all of the troops were encamped. Attracted by the crash of glass, several policemen ran to the scene whereupon the mob fled. Colonel O'Neil sent a detail of men in pursuit but all escaped. The train pays morning and evening visits to collieries between here and Shamokin to guard against strikers assaulting non-unionists on their way to and from work.

Want Police Protection.

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—President Pearson of the railway company has sent a letter to Mayor Capdeville announcing that the company was preparing to operate its cars. Mr. Pearson said the company desired to be assured that there would be ample police protection. Mayor Capdeville replied saying that he would have sufficient police on hand whenever the company was ready to resume its service.

The Earth Trembles.

Rome, Oct. 3.—A violent earthquake was felt at Terni, about 40 miles from here. The inhabitants were panic stricken and fled to open spaces. A number of houses were damaged, but there was no loss of life.

A dozen miners are killed by fire damp explosion at Black Diamond, Wash.

PICKETS ARE POSTED.

Union Men on the Lookout For Imported Labor.

WIRES ARE CUT AND POLES FELLED.

No Cars Have Been Run But Hope For Amicable Settlement Is Not Abandoned—People Must Walk.

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—The striking street car men who left their posts last Sunday morning in an attempt to secure higher wages and a shorter day, apparently are masters of the situation, as no attempt had been made to start cars on any of the lines. Considerable destruction of property of the New Orleans Railway company was reported as having occurred during the night. It is probably the result of the statement of the company that it would attempt to run its cars. Feed wires were cut, poles chopped and other means resorted to to make it difficult for the company to operate its service.

The papers contain advertisements for 1,000 motormen and conductors. They state that only residents of New Orleans need apply. It is not considered probable that there will be numerous responses to these advertisements. Telegrams from other cities said the company was seeking to obtain outside labor, but the company is not willing to admit this, and refers to its advertisements to show that it desires only home labor. The strikers, however, are suspicious and there were pickets at all the railway stations in anticipation of the arrival of foreign laborers. The weather continues fine and the discomfort of the public in getting from point to point is somewhat lessened. Efforts are being made by disinterested persons to bring the representatives of the contending factions together. Hope has not been abandoned of an amicable settlement. Until the company attempts to operate cars other than those carrying the mail there is unlikely to be serious disturbance of the peace.

Result Anxiously Awaited.

New York, Oct. 3.—Rev. J. J. Curran of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who has taken part in the settlement of several miners' strikes, says regarding the prospects of the coal conference at Washington with President Roosevelt: "America and Europe are on tiptoe awaiting the outcome of this peace council, which is of greater national importance than any domestic conference since the close of the civil war. The embittered struggle must be ended at this meeting, not on terms of dishonorable and ignoble capitulation by either side, but on the terms of honorable compromise and re-establishment of friendly relations. To adjourn the convention and allow the disputants to leave the executive mansion as they entered it would be nothing short of a national calamity. The dispute hinges no longer upon the question as to whether the operators are going to win and the miners going to lose or vice versa, but whether coal is going to be supplied to a clamoring public."

On a Technicality.

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—When the trial of Robert M. Snyder, banker and promoter, charged with bribery in connection with the Central Traction bill, was resumed in Judge Ryan's court, Circuit Attorney Folk began the task of proving that the defendant's case did not come under the statute of limitation and therefore he was not exempt from prosecution. The period of limitation for bribery in this state is three years. It is the state's contention that Snyder has been a resident of New York for the greater part of the time since the Central Traction bill was passed, in 1898, and cannot therefore receive the benefits of the statute of limitations. The defense will undertake to show that he lives and has lived in Kansas City. The question will turn on the meaning of the words "inhabitant" and "resident" contained in the statute.

To Settle Friar Question.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Three years is the period of time now fixed in the minds of the officials of the war department as requisite for a complete settlement of the Philippine friars lands question, if it is to be adjusted on the present basis. This appears to be an extraordinary waste of time, but it is accounted for by the statement that so many and complicated are the land titles to be examined that all the resources of the Philippine civil government cannot satisfactorily adjust them in a less time.

Five men were killed in a head-on collision on the Baltimore and Ohio near Cornwallis, W. Va.

THE Staats-Zietung, the most influential German paper in the United States, which has not supported a Democratic ticket since 1896, announces that it will support the Democratic ticket of New York this year.

GOVERNOR CUMMINS, of Iowa, is one of the Republicans engaged in pushing the fight for tariff revision. Hear him:

"What I have tried at various times to say is this: That a monopoly, whether established by a trust partnership or individual, is not entitled to the benefit of tariff duties, and that, if this were the law, it would have some effect in preventing the creation of monopolies.

"It is not necessary to the business of the country that monopolies shall exist, and ambitious men should be informed that they cannot have both monopolies and the tariff. You can be sure they will choose the course most profitable to them."

REPUBLICAN dissensions on the tariff issue go to prove the vitality of tariff revision as the dominant issue of the campaign now under way. This is due to the fact that the people have now come to a very clear realization of certain truths. They know that the trust evil has reached proportions that render imperative a restriction of the malign power of the trusts. They know that the monopolies enjoyed by the trusts were created by the Dingley tariff and are maintained by that tariff. They know that the way to remedy the trust evil is to revise the tariff of which the evil was born. The Republican party cannot successfully oppose the people on this issue. The split in the party is the presage of defeat at the polls in the November elections.

LOW TARIFF AND GOOD TIMES.

The United States and Canada are two great countries with border line 3,000 miles long. Naturally it might be supposed that an economic system that would benefit one would also benefit the other. Such, however, does not appear to be the case, if the statesmen in charge are to be believed.

The Republicans who are "it" in the management of our trust ridden government are perfectly certain that the prosperity which they talk so much about (to make sure that we have it) is due to our high protection policy, inaugurated five years ago. Canada lowered her tariff duties about the time we raised ours and the statesmen there are now crediting their prosperity to these lower duties. A recent issue of the Toronto Globe says:

If under any scale of duties the industries of a country are prospering, higher duties cannot be justified even on grounds of expediency. The country has now been for five years under a tariff very considerably lower than that which prevailed in the previous seventeen years, a period amply sufficient to test the efficacy of high protection. The prosperity of our industries under the low tariff has exceeded that enjoyed under the high tariff. The result is that the extreme protectionists are forced back upon the idea of retaliation pure and simple. The United States will not buy our goods as freely as we buy theirs. Therefore we must cut down our American imports until something like equality is established. Germany has made some foolish discriminations against Canadian wheat; we must, therefore, aim to strike a blow at Germany. In this way the word protection loses its meaning. What is sought is not the protection of our own industries, but the injury of somebody else's.

"Let well enough alone and don't touch the high tariff," say our Republican statesmen. "Let well enough alone and don't touch the low tariff," say the Canadian statesmen. Is it possible that five years of good crops in both these countries and poor crops in Europe have anything to do with our prosperity? Is it certain that we are prosperous at all, outside of the protected trusts and the farming sections of the West? Will not the trusts soon have gobbled up all of the surplus prosperity even of these Western farmers?

THE TOBACCO TRUST.

A Cincinnati Paper Tells of Its Work in That Market.

The "Breaks" Are Now Only a Plaything in the Hands of the Gigantic Combine.

[Cincinnati Post.]

The Cincinnati tobacco "breaks" are now a plaything in the hands of the gigantic consolidated tobacco company. Five years ago the auction sales in the immense warehouses in the bottoms were attended by, besides growers, several hundred eager bidders—speculators, brokers and buyers for great independent tobacco firms. Competition was fierce. A fine article of white burley tobacco was driven skyward in the auction sales. Men could buy hundreds of hogsheads of tobacco when the article was cheap, and hold it until tobacco went up again on slim offerings and in a single fortnight make a snug profit.

This no longer exists. Speculators have disappeared altogether. Whole families have thus been driven to other fields of operation in other lines. A handful of brokers, a hand to mouth business now accompany the trust buyers around the rooms during the sales, furnishing something for the trust to play with.

The trust fixes the prices. The trust lets the warehouse exists by refraining from withdrawing its buyers. Tobacco men are afraid to whisper words of disapproval of the evil lest their business be crushed.

The tobacco trust controls 75 per cent. of the business done on the "breaks." Last year the trust purchased 30,000,000 pounds of white burley tobacco direct from the farmers of the Ohio valley. Of that quantity 20,000,000 pounds would otherwise have passed through the great local clearing houses.

A certain manufacturing firm that made a certain brand of tobacco famous formerly paid 18 and 20c. a pound in this market for the choice white burley tobacco that went into its plug. The trust absorbed the firm, and now it pays 8 and 9 cents a pound for the tobacco from which that same brand is manufactured. The firm that originated the plug in question paid 12c. a pound tax and sold the tobacco to jobbers at 36c. a pound. Now the trust pays 6c. a pound tax and charges jobbers 38c. a pound for the goods.

Year after year the trust gets nearer the farmers who raise white burley tobacco. Slice after slice is gradually chopped from the warehouses. The trust allows the farmers just enough to pay them to raise the weed. It is building an immense warehouse at Lexington, Ky., for leaf-stripping in the heart of the tobacco districts. Two purposes are in view. Cheap labor can be had in smaller towns, and it will not be necessary to pay freight on the tobacco stems, which are waste, if the stemming is done nearer the point of production.

Sick People Should Have as Much Consideration as Criminals.

[Carlisle Mercury.]

Judge Barker of Louisville has decided that a smallpox patient can be taken by force from home and confined in a pest house. If this is true every county should be required to have a suitable pest house, and the next Legislature should pass a law requiring counties to provide it just as it is required to have a court house and jail. Certainly sick people should have as much consideration as a criminal.

THE ENDEAVORERS.

Second District Convention Opened Last Evening Under Favorable Auspices.

Program For This Afternoon and To-morrow.

The annual convention of the Second Kentucky Christian Endeavor district was opened last evening at the First Presbyterian Church under very favorable auspices. The inclement weather did not dampen the ardor of the Endeavorers.

The convention opened with the singing of the doxology, followed by the singing of that grand old hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy." Mr. James Childs, who was in charge of the devotional exercises, then read a psalm, and the convention was led in prayer by State President Tinder of Carlisle. Another inspiring hymn was sung, followed by the address of welcome by Mr. James B. Wood, District President, and the response by Mr. Oscar Henthorne, of Ashland. A quartette "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem" was sweetly rendered by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barbour, Miss Florence Hays and Mr. R. A. Cochran of the First Presbyterian choir.

The address of the evening was by State President Tinder. He prefaced his remarks with some statements as to the splendid growth of the society in recent years, and said the outlook was highly encouraging. The C. E. Society now numbers over 4,000,000 members throughout the world. In Kentucky there are over 6,000. Mr. Tinder's subject was "Our Responsibility as Christians," and he impressed all members of the church and especially all Endeavorers with the fact that each and all have a work to do. Mr. Tinder is an earnest and very pleasing speaker and his address was listened to closely throughout. It was followed by a vocal solo very sweetly rendered by Miss Edith Berry of the First Baptist Church.

After the Endeavor benediction, the audience adjourned to the room below, where a reception was tendered the delegates and other visitors. Light refreshments were served.

The prayer meeting at 6:45 this morning, conducted by Rev. R. E. Moss, was well attended.

At this morning's session, reports will be received, officers elected, followed by an open parliament, conducted by the State President and an address by Prof. King. This afternoon will be devoted to junior work, with addresses by Rev. H. C. Bowen, Mr. Lupton Ogden and Prof. Chandler.

To-night there will be two addresses, one by Rev. Jos. Armistead, of Lexington, on "Prison Work," and the other by Mr. S. M. Cooper, of Cincinnati, on "Christian Citizenship." Miss Lida Rogers will give a recitation.

To-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock services will be held at the jail, the almshouse and the infirmary. Sunday night at 7:30 the consecration service will be held at First Presbyterian Church. The address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Molloy. Subject, "How Endeavorers Can Count Most for Christ and the Church."

The public cordially invited to all the

BARKLEY'S

THESE'S a kind of happy feelin' creeps down in a feller when He's got his pumpkins gathered and the hay-mow's full agen';
There's hope in all the breezes that come blow-
in' from the hill,
And you get to kind of thinkin' God is up there somewhere still;
What a purty sight the wheat is as it's piled up in the bin!
Oh, it's good to be a farmer when the crops are in.
It's lively in the city, and it's very quiet here;
There's the hurry and the racket keeps a-goin'
all the year;
There most every day's excitin', and they keep it up at night;
Every way a person gazes there is some uncommon sight,
And I s'pose it's never lonesome livin' round the haunts of sin,
But the city people never have their crops all in.
There's many a day of toilin', and there's many an ache and pain,
And there's lots and lots of frettin' at the dryness or the rain;
There's the weeds and worms and insects that
the farmer has to fight,
But the good Lord doesn't often fail to pull 'im
through all right,
And the sweetest satisfaction that a mortal man can win
Sort of hovers round the farmer when the crops are in.

When a horse picks up a nail in his foot what does the driver do? Does he whip the limping, lagging animal and force him along? Not unless he wants to ruin the horse. At the first sign of lameness he jumps down, examines the foot and carefully removes the cause of the lameness.

What is called "weak stomach" is like the lameness of the horse, only to be cured by removing the cause of the trouble. If you stimulate the stomach with "whisky medicines" you keep it going, but every day the condition is growing worse. A few doses sometimes of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will put the disordered stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition in perfect condition. Ninety-eight times in every hundred "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure the worst ailments originating in diseases of the stomach. It always helps. It almost always cures. To cure constipation use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're sure.

This recipe is warranted to remove spots from the most delicate carpets without injuring the latter. Make a suds with a good White soap and hot water and add fuller's earth to this until the consistency of thin cream is secured. Have plenty of clean drying cloths, a small scrubbing brush, a large sponge and a pail of fresh water.
Put some of the cleansing mixture in a bowl and dip the brush in it. Brush a small piece of the carpet with this, then wash with the sponge and cold water. Dry as much as possible with dry cloths. Continue this till you are sure that all the carpet is clean. Then let it dry.
